Emperor Wavering Between Counsel of Ministers and Reactionaries
Only Cossacks Remain Faithful to Existing Regime--At Lodz

Many Persons Killed and Wounded at Odessa.

London, Oct. 30.—The correspondent of the Daily Chronicle at St. Petersburg sends the following:

The court is in revolt against the Emperor, who is vacillating between the counsels of his ministers to grant a constitution with Count Witte as premier and the advice of the reactionaries to proclaim a dictatorship under General Count Alex. Ipatieff, a member of the council of the Empire.

"One of the most ominous facts in the situation is the feeling among the Finns. There are only 4,000 troops in Finland, the 6,000 reservists sent there having been brought back because they developed revolutionary feelings.

"Should the Finns revolt the government could not reinforce the garrisons, because every soldier is wanted here, and the navy is unreliable."

Situation Growing Worse.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 30.—12:55 p. m.—The city continues outwardly calm, but there is the most intense excitement beneath the surface.

The strike committee continues to restrain the people from violence, this being considered the best means of attaining the ends in view, but behind the scenes the members of the committee are holding constant meetings with the leaders of the various groups and seem to be prepared for a bold stroke at the opportune moment. The committee believe that the longer

Odessa, Russian Poland, Oct. 30.—The situation here grows worse hourly. The infantry when ordered to fire on the people discharging their rifles in the air.

The shops are closed, and those whose owners refuse to shut up are destroyed.

Crowds are busily tearing down Russian flags, which are displayed by order of the police.

Bands of peasants in the government of Suwalki are destroying the government alcohol stores.

Conflicts at Odessa.

Odessa, Oct. 29.—Cossacks have commenced firing on the crowds of workmen and students who had barricaded street corners with street railway poles and furniture. At one point a volley from the Cossacks killed one student, three workmen, and a girl and wounded eighteen persons.

Twenty-Seven Killed.

London, Oct. 29.—A dispatch to a news agency from Odessa says there have been two serious conflicts between the troops and a mob, in which twenty-seven persons were killed and ninety wounded. The dispatch adds that quiet was restored at 7 o'clock this evening.

Casualties Were Heavy.

Odessa, Oct. 30.—It is impossible to fix even approximately the number of yesterday's victims. The officials' names removed by the police and hidden out of sight of inquirers.

The infantry of whose loyalty the authorities are doubtful are kept in barracks and dispossess and gendarmerie, who show no disposition to shoot down people at sight, are left to deal with the crowds.

At one barricaded corner yesterday a student, on the appearance of Cossacks, mounted the barricade and appealed to them to join the people instead of killing their brothers, who were struggling for the freedom of the common country. The Cossacks answered with four volleys, killing nine and wounding about forty persons.

Since yesterday's events are occurring everywhere, the crowds fleeing before the charging Cossacks into private houses hiding in garrets and on roofs. Many private apartments have been converted into temporary hospitals for the succor of wounded refugees.

which would force a show of hands can be avoided, the better their chances. The army, they say, is being gradually won over to the people's cause. Only the Cossacks who are referred to as Emperor's "Swiss Guards" are absolutely faithful to the existing regime.

The Izmakovski Guards, however, which was reported to be disaffected during the troubles of last winter, is now reported to have refused to do guard duty and to be confined to the barracks, surrounded by Cossacks. An investigation by the Associated Press, however, is about to be closed with extreme difficulty to meet the situation.

The telephone girls at St. Petersburg have joined the strikers, and soldiers are replacing them, but the latter are attending chiefly to official calls. Many of the theatres are closed, the actors being among the strikers.

Two Suicides.

The work was depicted to an American family in the congregation, and when the church assembled this morning a blaze of stars and stripes with the picture of Roosevelt in the centre greeted the worshippers. Lionel Terry Says He Committed Deed to Draw Attention to "The Yellow Peril."

(Special to the Times)

Nanaimo, Oct. 30.—Claiming that he intended to call attention to "The yellow peril," Lionel Terry, formerly of Nanaimo, murdered a Chinaman in Wellington, New Zealand, on September 25th. The murdered Chinaman was an old man named Joe Kow Yung. Yung was found with a bullet in the back of his head, and though medical aid was procured he died in the hospital.

Next morning a man who gave his name as Lionel Terry gave himself up, at the police station as the murderer. He said he had very strong views on the subject of aliens, and he recently issued a pamphlet of protest on "The Yellow Peril." He was remarkably vehement, and his strong views were noted about Terry, but after breakfast the morning after the murder he wrote some notes and then went and handed himself over to the police, giving them a revolver, two chambers of which had been discharged, and also a copy of his pamphlet which he said would explain things.

A letter was received by the governor from Terry as follows:

The work was depicted to an American family in the congregation, and when the church assembled this morning a blaze of stars and stripes with the picture of Roosevelt in the centre greeted the worshippers. Many vinced of the evil consequences arising therefrom, I have decided to bring the matter before the public eye in a manner which will compel the attention it demands. I will not under any consideration whatever allow my rights and those of my brother British to be jeopardized by alien invasion, and to make this decision perfectly plain I have this evening put a Chinaman to death in the Chinese quarter of this city, known as Haining street.

"I remain, LIONEL TERRY,

Terry in 1901 lived in British Columbia and was secretary of the South Wellington Miners' Union at that time. His pamphlet, "The Shadow," has been sent broadcast to newspapers in Canada.

(Associated Press)

New York, Oct. 30.—A Herald dispatch from Naples says that information has come from the director of the Vesuvius observatory that there have been constant explosions from the crater of the volcano since Saturday night. The explosions, increasing constantly in violence, are now occurring at half minute intervals, and they have again shattered the cone of the summit and made a lateral fissure through which is pouring a constant stream of incandescent lava.

Demands of the People are increasing proportionately with the success of demonstrations. The cry for a constituent assembly is now almost universal, but the "rede" declare that they would not satisfy the people, and add that there "must be some lamp post."

On account of the food pinch even the first class restaurants have increased their prices. The minister of finance has issued an order permitting most importation by water. The scarcity of milk is especially felt.

Rumors from Capital.

Paris, Oct. 30.—Communication between St. Petersburg and Paris remains uninterrupted. The streets of the Russian capital are filled with soldiers, and the people maintain an attitude of defiance, but to serious disorders are mentioned in the meagre reports received here.

There is no confirmation of the London Daily Telegraph's statement that Emperor Nicholas has accepted the liberal programme which gives legislative powers to the proposed national assembly.

A dispatch to the Journal St. Petersburg quotes a personality of the court as saying that a constitution will be promulgated November 3rd, and quotes another court functionary as saying that the law providing for liberty of the press, which is about to appear, gives little real relief.

The functionary added that Count Witte is about to be closed with extreme power to meet the situation.

POSITION ON GERMANY.

Is Strong Enough to Stand Alone—Cologne Gazette Publishes Inspired Article.

Berlin, Oct. 28.—The German government is seemingly giving other governments to understand that Germany is strong enough to maintain and extend her position independent of their power and therefore cordial understandings against her or alliances for her are not the primary concern of German policy. Emperor William's speeches are so interpreted by the diplomatic here, and to-day the Cologne Gazette, ever regarded as giving what the government desires should be accepted as the view of the day, says: "Our ardent endeavors to convert the world of nations for the cause of the Yellow Peril, left us little time for the struggle against the black Peril, but we are now in a position to do so, and the world is strong enough to support us in this.

The stirring sentences have been telegraphed through Germany for reproduction in other newspapers. Precisely what has happened to lead to the Emperor's speech is not authoritatively explained. It is probably connected with Russia's resistance to certain German proposals.

Premier Fejervary's Programme Includes Universal Suffrage and Granting of Farm Holdings.

Buda Pest, Oct. 28.—Premier Fejervary has issued the government programme of reforms. It provides for universal, secret and direct suffrage, and the maintenance of the joint customs territory until 1910, and it is expected that the establishment of an independent state will be possible.

Fejervary points out that the transfer of Hungary's objects to Hungarian regiments has already been commenced.

Commands will be given in the Hungarian language in all regiments in which that language is understood, and the military style of such regiments will be changed.

The government contemplates granting small farm holdings to farmers and converting the mortgage debts of the small landed proprietors.

Special to the Times.

Nanaimo, Oct. 30.—Two old timers are dead here. Mrs. David Jones, a widow, died last evening. She leaves her husband and family of five.

Mrs. Ephraim Cook, mother of Mrs. A. R. Johnston, and a resident here for twenty years, died this morning. Both ladies were in the seventies.

George Shepherd, of Totswood, Oxfordshire, while playing cricket, was hit on the head by a ball. He died three hours afterwards of hemorrhage of the brain.

BACK FROM THE BOUNDARY SURVEY

GEO. WHITE-FRASER RETURNED TO CITY

He Has Been Engaged During the Sum- mer at Head of Portland

Canal.

Geo. White-Fraser, who has been in charge of one of the parties according to the boundary line between Canada and Alaska is in the city having returned from the north by the Tees. Mr. White-Fraser landed at Vancouver, and did not reach Victoria until Saturday evening. He will spend only a few days here before leaving for Ottawa to make his report and to confer with the authorities.

Experienced in northern surveys Mr. White-Fraser is well qualified for the work, which he has had in hand during the past two seasons. In conversation with a Times reporter this morning he said that during the first of the season the weather was all that could be desired. The rain began very early in the fall, and it was very early during the month of August, September and October. This latter condition of the weather of course made it very disagreeable for the survey party and interfered with the work to some extent.

His party was engaged at the head of Portland Canal. The boundary for a distance of about 25 miles was located. But while this length of the boundary was marked that in no way represented the distance covered by the party. The most of the work was carried on at an altitude of about 5,000 feet above sea level, and often 7,800 feet was attained.

The work was among glaciers calling for the greatest care. It was never safe to allow a member of the party to go off on any duty alone. Every precaution was taken to prevent the loss of life. Great yawning gape in the ice existed, and there was the danger of a man dropping through the thin covering of snow which at times concealed these crevasses.

During the season's work no fewer than six men thus met with accident, but in consequence of the precautions taken in roping the men, together nothing serious resulted.

In the part of the country in which Mr. White-Fraser was engaged there was considerable activity in prospecting. The most of the mines he says seemed to be on the Canadian side of the line. There were fine samples brought in, and the country had the appearance of being highly mineral

REVOLUTIONISTS
GROWING BOLDERINACTIVITY OF OFFICIALS
REGARDED AS WEAKNESS

The Czar Holds Out Against Demands of Count Witte—Chaos in Russia.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 28.—The day passed without the promulgation of Russia's new government organ—a responsible ministerial cabinet to bring order out of the present administrative chaos. Minister Witte, to whom all factions look to assume the premiership, has spent almost the entire time during the past two days at Peterhof, there awaiting with the Emperor. His inaction open conditions with his appointment which His Majesty was unwilling to grant.

Upon his return to St. Petersburg to-night Count Witte announced that the cabinet project, which has been lying signed for three days on the Emperor's table, would not be promulgated to-morrow, informing thereby that his programme, which is known to include a species of constitution involving the granting of four liberties—freedom of speech, freedom of assembly, freedom of the press and freedom of the person—has not been accepted.

It is thought that the delay cannot be long protracted, and that it is only a question of hours until the Emperor concedes the demands of the dynasty to Count Witte's hands.

Meantime the situation is passing from bad to worse. Chiefs of state are at a loss how to act, and the revolutionists, encouraged by the inactivity of the government, are Growing Bolder

and more insistent in their demands and in their speeches. It is true there has been no disorder in St. Petersburg, and General Trepoff, Russia's other strong man, has taken every measure to put down an uprising in his inception, but he has not yet sure of his position to act boldly with regard to the revolutionary meetings at the university, and his contented himself with issuing warnings which have not been enforced, and are taken by the agitators as showing lack of backbone.

As before Friday's great meeting at the university, it was again announced that further meetings there would not be permitted, but the college portals were again open to-night.

Two hundred thousand men are idle. Workmen's meetings held throughout the city to-night unanimously favored continuing the strike. The lawyers during the afternoon stopped all the business of the courts.

The situation in Moscow parallels that in St. Petersburg.

The Same Paralysis

has seized Russia's second city. The strike is general; the people are defying all prohibitions and are swarming to the university and other meeting places. A provisional government already has been organized and is waiting to exercise its power. The university is barricaded against the troops.

The population of many towns are growing restive, violent and disorderly, but the attempts of the strike leaders to hold the people in hand thus far have been generally successful. Troops are in full possession at many places in the interior and the inhabitants are panic-stricken.

There is no relaxation of the railroad.

Disquieting Rumor.

Warsaw, Russian Poland, Oct. 28.—The streets are filled with patrols. It is rumored that strikers are marching on the city from the provinces. By order of the governor-general the gates of Warsaw are closed at dark, and the restaurants close at 7 in the evening.

The Fire at Revel.

Revel, Russia, Oct. 28.—While the city was in darkness last night rioters sacked the stores and later marching crowds set fire to the spirit shops, theates and other buildings. Barricades were thrown up in various sections. Buildings were still in flames this morning. Troops are now arriving here.

Cossacks Disperse Strikers.

Moscow, Oct. 28.—The city was in darkness last night. Trade, the shops, theatres, and schools are closed, and the streets are deserted save for the troops and streams of workmen. The several meetings of strikers were dispersed by Cossacks. The banks, treasury, post office and the governor-general's office are surrounded by troops. The local merchants are asking for a postponement of the payment of bills. The governor-general has formally postponed the auction of peasants' property, which was to be sold for taxes. The board of trade has petitioned against the state of siege. Prices are very high, and water is 20 cents a pail.

The utmost alarm prevails owing to the fact that the workers are marching in the town from the factory districts. The electric light works have shut down. The last government spirit shop is closed.

Communication Severed.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 28.—2:40 p.m.—Telegraphic communication in this city and Moscow has ceased. St. Petersburg is entirely isolated from Moscow.

Martial Law.

Kharhoff, Russia, Oct. 28.—There was a great demonstration at the burial of the 15 victims of the recent rioting, but the students and workmen presented order. The procession marched through the streets without any clergy and singing the "Marseillaise" and dirge music. At the cemetery revolutionary speeches were made over the graves which were adorned with red flags. The troops and police were powerless to interfere. Subsequently martial law was declared.

Communication Severed.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 28.—An independent investigation made by the Associated Press shows that the report that the Finland railroad had stopped is incorrect. Trains left St. Petersburg this morning. The usual telegraphic communication with Moscow was severed at noon.

Ready for Trouble.

Warsaw, Oct. 28.—Thirty thousand infantry and 5,000 cavalry and 98 guns have been collected in this city in readiness to strike any disturbance.

The proletariat, they say, will be the first to feel the pinch of hunger. The strike organization has succeeded in preventing all except about a hundred persons from entering, and those, warned by the court officials, adjourned until 7 o'clock this evening. In dispersing the strikers broke a number of store windows.

FORMER VICTORIAN
RETURNS TO THE CITY

Was Married Amid Eastern Splendor
Just Eight Months Ago—Trip
Around the World.

Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Magill are guests at the Driard registered from Ireland.

The above announcement will be of interest to Victoria society people, especially when they know that Mrs. Magill was Miss L. M. Drummond, a former Victorian and an accomplished and well known member of the younger social set prior to her departure a few years ago for an extended trip around the world. Mr. Magill it might be mentioned, was until recently a lieutenant in the British army.

Romance, so dear to feminine hearts in affairs of love, has been a frequent visitor, during the courtship, marriage and honeymoon of Mrs. Magill. Love and war in far off Egypt, a beautiful young lady and a young army officer make up the interesting story.

Miss Drummond formerly lived in Victoria. Her parents were well known and prosperous. She was prominent in church affairs. An accomplished young lady, and a leader in her social set.

About three years ago Miss Drummond decided to leave Victoria on an extended trip around the world. She spent some time in the United States, and then crossed the water to visit other foreign countries. She stopped in London during her travels, and here it may be said the romance really began. It was here that she met Mr. Magill, or to be more exact, Lieut. Magill, of the Inniskilling Regiment. Rumor does not say that it was "love at first sight," but at any rate they spent many happy hours together, and the innumerable social functions attendant upon his position as an officer, materially assisted in making her story one of great pleasure.

It is said the course of true love never runs smooth. Some few months after Miss Drummond's arrival in London, and the social season was well under way, the war department that Lieut. Magill had been promoted should immediately proceed to Egypt with headquarters at Cairo. Lieut. Magill left London, and about two weeks later Miss Drummond followed, and the two were once more together. Army life was pleasant for Lieut. Magill with such a welcome companion in such a far off foreign land. The wedding was decided upon, and the day was set, just eight months ago to-morrow. The two were married amid Eastern splendor and with all the pomp of a military function. A short time later Lieut. Magill sent in his resignation, which in due time was accepted, and he left the British army for good. It may be said that he served with distinction over two years in the British African war. He was in the British army six years. Leaving London, Mr. and Mrs. Magill went to Ireland to visit with Mr. Magill's parents, who have large holdings there. From Ireland they sailed for New York, arriving there on the 26th October 12th, and spending a few days visiting points of interest en route, they arrived in Victoria last night.

In conversation Mr. Magill said: "Yes, I was in the English army for six years. I served in the South African war, and was later on duty with my regiment in Egypt. I resigned from the service several months ago, and have since been travelling in Ireland, and the United States. This is my first visit to Canada. Mrs. Magill came to visit her old home here in Victoria, so here we are. I may look here, but am not decided as yet just what I will do. We may travel some more before settling down. We are having a most enjoyable time."

SOUTH PARK DRAWINGS.

Members of School Board Will Inspect Books at an Early Date.

The investigation by the school board into the South Park school drawings with reference to the use of "ruled lines" instead of "free hand," as prescribed by the regulations, has not advanced any further than the last regular meeting.

Chairman Boggs announces that Superintendent Robinson has been notified of the trustees' desire to inspect the drawings in question. This was done verbally by the former, and the conversation, it is understood, was both brief and interesting.

Replies to the chairman's statement that members of the board were anxious to see the books criticized by the examiner, the superintendent said that the decision in the matter had already been given to Miss Cameron, principal of the South Park school.

When it was explained that the board had determined to carry the investigation further Superintendent Robinson insisted that he should be so informed by an official communication. To this the chairman agreed and it is probable that when formality is complied with the matter will receive attention.

Ship of Former Pacific Squadron is

Wanted By Spaniards For Training Purposes.

A London correspondent writes to the Times under date of October 14th: "One of the best known cruisers in the fleet, the Calliope, recently moored in 'Rotten Row,' at Motherbark, will, it is believed, shortly change hands, as the Spanish admiralty is negotiating for her purchase with the view of using her as a training ship for naval cadets, a duty she long discharged in our own navy."

The name of the Calliope came into prominence whilst attached to the Pacific squadron in 1880, by the gallantry and seamanship of her skipper, Captain Row, at the Battle of Apia, Samoa Islands, in March of 1880. Captain Row steamed out to sea in the teeth of a typhoon and weathered the storm. The German and Yankee ships, which remained in the harbor, were blown ashore or lost. The staunch little cruiser which performed this deed was invariably an object of the keenest interest at the ports she visited during her training and recruiting service. To weather the storm her hulls were loaded practically to the bursting point.

On the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of the opening of the St. Nicholas salt mines at Varangéville, France, a banquet was given in the subterranean part of the mine, the walls, ceilings and floors of which were of glistening white salt, which scintillated like diamonds under the light from a thousand electric arc lamps.

Siems refused to confirm this, saying it is a matter for the chief engineer to tell.

"It is also learned on good authority that the date for completion is November 1st, 1905. The expenditure for bridges over the Columbia and Willamette is estimated to be not less than $2,000,000.

"Four contractors have been bidding for portions of the work, but the slices of the construction fund have so far been parceled out to only a little more than a dozen.

"Several contracts have been awarded for work westward from Cape Horn, but not announced, because no attempt will probably be made to prosecute work at the end until the eastern and larger portion is finished, or practically so. There is a great deal of dirt work below Cape Horn that cannot be economically done during the winter months."

It is ascertained that the prices stipulated with the general contractor are in round numbers $10,000,000, although Peter

Sloan, M. P., of Nanaimo, arrived in the city at noon to-day. He is staying at the Driard.

GARRISON VICTORIOUS.

An interesting match was played between the Victoria and Garrison teams on Saturday afternoon at Work Point grounds. It resulted in a victory for the latter by a score of 3 goals to 1, the soldiers displaying better form and staying power. The pace set at the start was exceptionally fast for the first contest of the season. It was maintained throughout by the Victoria players, though a little was given up in the second half of the game due to the lack of proper training. It was during this period that the opponents added two goals in their attempt and won the match.

Although the Garrison had the advantage of being in good form, there was much apparent difference in the ability of the respective teams. At the outset, the soldiers made a rush which could not be denied by the opposing defence, and Col. H. M. Pye, means of a neat, accurate shot, scored the first goal. Nothing happened for the remainder of the first half, both teams playing hard and putting up a splendid exhibition.

When the contest recommenced, the Garrison started forcing matters and for a time kept the pack well within their territory. The latter, however, played powerfully, and it was only through good combination and the most determined defence that another point was secured. Held did the trick, and shortly after that Collins repeated the performance from another rush on the part of the forwards. Victoria scored from a scrummage in front of the goal just before the conclusion of the game.

H. G. Dahy was referee and gave general satisfaction.

THE NANAIMO GAME.

Describing Thursday's match between the Victoria second eleven and Nanaimo at the Coal City, the Free Press says:

"Despite the Nanaimo team being short four of its regular members, the score, three to one, shows how well they held down Victoria's crack intermediate hockey team on Thursday. Nanaimo rushed from the start, taking the ball into Victoria's territory and giving H. Brown, in the visitors' goal, several shots to stop. Came relieved for Victoria, and after the ball travelled back and forward in Nanaimo's half for some time, Canble scored, but a few minutes later Steele, Akehead and Caderhead brought the ball down field. A foul followed, and Haslam, in his first game for the first eleven, took the ball across the half-line, and this finished the match for the first half, despite the many attempts of both teams to pass the flag.

"With the commencement of the second half, things began to look brighter for Nanaimo, their forwards sending a second shot which barely missed scoring. Winsby relieved, passed to MacLean, who tipped across to Brown, who drove the sphere through for Victoria. The Coal City boys went back harder than ever, but luck was against them. Gibson added one more to the Victoria's score, and five minutes later the whistle blew with the ball dangerously near Victoria's goal.

"It was too bad that all the regular members of the home team did not put in an appearance, as then they might have told a different story regarding the score. A return game is to be played in the near future at the Capital City."

LADIES' PRACTICE.

There was a full practice of the Victoria ladies' club on Saturday afternoon at Oak Bay. Two elevens were selected from among those present and a very enjoyable and profitable game took place.

It is understood that the proposal mentioned in these columns the other day to the effect that a three-division inter-league, including Victoria, Nanaimo and Esquimalt, will be formed, with each club having strong eleven, will be taken up by the local executives. The matter will come up for discussion at the next meeting, which will be held at an early date.

GENERAL SECRETARY OF BIBLE SOCIETY

Rev. R. C. Welch Will Arrive in the City on Official Business Next Saturday.

Rev. R. E. Welch, M. A., who has been appointed general secretary of the Canadian Bible Society, has arrived from the East and is now in Vancouver. He will likely spend the week in the Terminal City, arriving in Victoria next Saturday. The general secretary will then spend a week in this city looking after the interests of the society which he represents.

On Sunday next he will occupy the pulpit of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, and in the evening will preach in the Metropolitan Methodist church. On the evening following, he will address a public meeting in the First Presbyterian church. The local society have so far made no further arrangements for public meetings during the general secretary's visit.

On the evening following, he will address a public meeting in the First Presbyterian church. The local society have so far made no further arrangements for public meetings during the general secretary's visit.

Since the branches of the British and Foreign Bible Society in Canada were reorganized, a request was made that a general secretary be sent out, and Rev. Mr. Welch was chosen for the task. He will likely spend a trip in the country to ascertain accurately and minutely the needs of the work. It is not his first visit to the Pacific Coast, having come out from London three years ago on a holiday trip.

"The object of the British and Foreign Bible Society," Rev. Mr. Welch says in an interview in the News-Advertiser, "is to circulate the Bible all over the world, and the object of my work in Canada is to interest the public of the Dominion in carrying on the work here with Canadian money, as well as giving something toward the world-wide work. During my trip across the ocean, I have stopped at a variety of the larger cities to observe the settlement and distribution of the races. At Port Arthur, among other nationalities there are about 2,000 Finns, and the greatest problems have to be encountered in the Northwest. I visited Edmonton, and was much struck with that city which has a future. There are about 20,000 Galicians in that neighborhood. I am told that at the Bible depot of the society at Winnipeg, applications have been made for the Scriptures in 45 different tongues, so you can see the extent of the work in the West."

Some interesting particulars were given of the work of the general society. The Scripture is published by it in 390 languages, 12 of these having been added during the last year. Over half, 219 of them, have been translated into the vernaculars of India, China, and Ceylon, all the original of the time find expression in Warren Connel as Charles Brandon, lover of Mary Tudor, Princess of England. But it is in that Mary Tudor that the most interest lies, a girl with a story all her own, made natural, winsome and lovable by the wonderful acting of Roselle Knott, one of the cleverest actresses of the American stage.

FOR LOVE OF A LADY.

BY ALICE MAUD MEADOWS.

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.

The tale opens with the meeting in Hyde Park of Jasper Warne and his wife Carrie, whom he had deserted. Warne promises to meet the woman again, and bring what money he can spare. The scene then changes to the bachelor chambers of Jasper's cousin, Leslie Bell, who is in love with a girl named Carrie, but that she has deceived him, and that he is now passionately attached to Leslie Bell, a charming young orphan, who has just, by a decision of the courts, become mistress of a great fortune. The deferred meeting between Jasper Warne and his wife takes place, and the woman is not so easily bought off as Jasper imagined she would be. To avoid a quarrel in the street he takes her to a house in which both Philip and himself are staying. Finding that he had no money, Philip's key, he takes his wife to a cousin's house in a little town. About this time a money lender's assistant, coming to see Jasper to press for payment of a loan, enters Jasper's rooms, and finds them empty. While there he hears footsteps in the passage, and his sweetheart, Rachel, who had accompanied him, and whom he had left in a cab outside, sees a man leave the house with a face "white as chalk." As a bell which had held the same ring in the house of Mrs. Strangeways, wife of Leslie Bell, lives, both Philip and Jasper go to the room, and the former is accepted. Philip reaches his chambers at four in the morning, and goes straight to his bedroom. Awakening an hour later with a start, and being unable to sleep, he enters the sitting room to get a book, and there sees the dead body of Carrie. Later on the police, who are summoned, learning that Philip knew the woman, and finding a portrait of her in the room, suspect Philip of the deed. Leslie, however, to whom Philip has confided his early love, has unshaken faith in her lover, and refuses his offer to release her from her engagement.

CHAPTER XXXI.

On the morning following her interview with Jasper, Leslie went straight to the police, and laid all the facts of the case before them, including the marriage certificate, the photographs, and love letters.

Chief Inspector Gunn looked grave. "I don't doubt you in the least," he said; "I'm sorry to see you, but your word for it is all you have to prove. I found these very damning articles—touching the letters and photographs—in Mr. Warne's room. You can't be considered disinterested. I'm sorry you had no one with you when you searched."

She grew a little pale. Was it possible all her trouble was to be of no avail?

"The marriage certificate, at all events, proves whose wife she was," he said, "and who it was she spoke to in the park when she said 'I am your wife.' The marriage certificate proves with whom she made the appointment to meet again at 8 o'clock."

The inspector nodded.

"Yes, I see that, of course," he answered. "Mr. Warne, at all events, committed perjury when he said he did not know the murdered woman. She was, without doubt, his wife, but he was guilty of a moment—Mr. Gilchrist who has run away."

She looked at him with the most innocent eyes in the world. "But he has not run away," she said. "I can't make out why you will insist that he has run away. He has not given up his job, of course, because in all I thought it was better not. While you believed he was hiding, I believed he himself was safe, and that not the ghost of a suspicion rested upon him, but Mr. Gilchrist has never left London. He has been living in a house of mine in St. John's wood all the time, with my respects to wait on him, keeping quiet, if you like, but neither hiding nor running away. It wasn't likely, was it, that he would remain in his chambers where a woman he had once loved had been murdered? I wonder?" she smiled her sweetest smile. "I have not run away?" Leslie's smile was sweet indeed—"if you'll put your warrant into effect now? It rests in your discretion, I suppose?"

"He smiled back at her.

"Certainly," he said. "No, we shall look into this evidence you have brought us before we can make a judgment as that. I wonder have Mr. Warne any idea what you have been up to?"

"All I wonder," she answered. "Any day, he did not recognize me when I reported Alice Bloor. Shall I give you Mr. Gilchrist's present address? You may like to see that he is there. I suppose you ought to do that?"

"Thank you," he answered. "I'm afraid, miss—his eyes twinkled—'you've been conspiring to defeat the ends of the law, but I don't know that I blame you.' I can respect a plucky woman, and the world at large will, I am sure, respect you, too—that's if I have your word on the right tack, of course, which I really have no doubt."

She was sitting on one side of a little upholstered wooden table. She seated her pretty chin on her hands, and leaned forward.

"But I don't want you to tell the world at large of what I've been doing," she said. "I want you to take any credit there is to yourselves. I want—her eyes laughed and sparkled—the detective force to have found a good clue for once, and to have followed it up successfully."

Mr. Gunn smiled back at the girl.

"And I am bound to say I am contented Miss Bloor," he said. "I'm afraid that won't do. Besides, the person who found the letters, and photographs will have to swear to that fact if it comes to an arrest of Mr. Warne. I'm afraid, Miss Bell, you can't get out of appearing; at least, I'm sure, you can't."

She straightened herself up.

"Then I must appear, of course," she said. "Shall I leave all these things in your hands? They will be quite safe, will they not? You see, they have been rather trouble to get."

"They will be quite safe," he answered. "You are a very brave woman, Miss Bell, if you will excuse me for saying so."

"I am a woman very much in love," she said, and blushed as she said it. "Now I must be off. I have to give Mrs. Bloor her real niece, and apologize for what I have done; but I think she will forgive me. Women have a romance, do they not?"

"Yes, and men too," he answered.

"Your address is, I think, 144 Grosvenor Gardens?"

She nodded and held out her hand.

"Yes," she answered. "I shall be there if you want me. You will not think me rude, will you, if I say I hope you won't?"

The next minute she had left. He put the papers and photographs she had given him together, and tied them with a piece of pink tape.

"Fortunate fellow!" he said to himself. "I wonder if he deserves his luck. With all my heart and soul I hope he does."

PROVINCIAL NEWS.

NEW WESTMINSTER.

The presentment of the grand jury on the various public institutions was read at the final sitting of the assize court. An application of John Oliver, M. P. P., to have the officials of the New Westminster Southern railway indicted owing to the great mortality among cattle along the line of railway, was approved by the grand jury, and immediate action was recommended. His Lordship stated that it was out of his province, but he would see that it was sent to the proper officials. On the application of Crown Prosecuting Attorney J. H. Bowles, His Lordship, Chief Justice Hunter has appointed Coroner Dr. King of Ladner to hold a fresh inquest in the Hume case.

A fatal gunning accident occurred on Friday at 12.30 o'clock on the John Wiggins ranch on the North side of the city. Ernest Bloor had lost his life.

Henry Andziowski and Carmen Polka, left early in the morning to spend the day shooting and at the time of the accident were on the Wiggins ranch, the story, as told being as follows: Andziowski was about 50 feet to the left of the unfortunate lad and Polka the same distance to the right and about 30 feet to the front. Polka shot and then came a shot from the deceased, and as his companions heard the explosion they looked that way and saw the boy falling and ran to him immediately, only to find him past all help, the charge from his gun having blown the back of his head off. As last noticed he was carrying his gun over his shoulder with the stock of the gun to his back and it is supposed that he would have caught it in a branch and jerked back and discharged. The unfortunate lad is the son of George Hawkins, an employee of the government snafu, and who lives on Fourteenth street, above Eighth avenue.

Leslie had entered the room. Maria Bloor had entered the room.

"And yet they have their troubles," Mrs. Bloor said. "Leslie has had enough to spare."

"Yes, poor dear, and yet it would almost break my heart to see what she had done to him. I wish I were not. Oh, dear, how happy they are!"

"And they have their troubles," Mrs. Bloor said. "Leslie has had enough to spare."

"Twelve o'clock had struck," she said. "Cinderella's beautiful clothes and surroundings are about to vanish. I can see that by your face. It's full of gladness. You've proved your love innocent. Well, I won't grumble. I've had a happy time, and I'm sure you won't forget me."

Leslie took both the girl's hands.

"I shall never forget you, or what you have done," she said. "I can never be grateful enough to you. If you hadn't had the pluck to enter into my confidence, I don't know that she have stood a chance. I don't want to talk a lot, but I'm your friend for ever, if you'll let me be your friend. Now, I'm afraid, we must go and confess to Mrs. Bloor."

She was struck by the girl's words.

Robert Brown, a C. P. R. employee, was struck by an engine in the yard near the coal bunkers and severely injured on Monday night. His right foot was cut off by the wheels and a compound fracture of the right thigh was also sustained.

The unfortunate man was promptly removed to the hospital.

PHOENIX.

For a couple of months past the management of the Dominion Copper Company has been considering the advisability of operating the company's present smelter at Boundary Falls, which was blown out last May by the Montreal & Boston Consolidated, this company's predecessor in ownership, but lack of adequate slag dumping ground has stood in the way.

Last week, however, this matter was arranged and dumping ground to last a couple of years was secured, and it is now the intention to blow in the smelter once more. This will be definitely decided by Mr. W. M. Johnson, the company's smelting engineer, returning from Utah and Colorado.

Mr. Johnson is expected to arrive here almost any day. A force of men has been at work on three of the company's smelting group of mines in this camp, and this force has been somewhat increased lately by T. R. Drummond, the resident manager for the company. In the meantime, W. C. Thomas, the smelter superintendent for the company, continues his investigations regarding a site for the new and larger smelter which it has been announced the company fully intends to erect in the Boundary.

The British Columbia Copper Company, operating the smelter at Greenwood, and the Mother Lode mine in Greenwood camp, has been gradually increasing its sphere of operations this year, having "purchased" working rights from Prince George Hedley, and at Cheam, Washington, in addition to the Mother Lode, itself a large shipper for years. Lately, however, the company has taken a band on a property called the Napoleon, located at Boyd's, a little station six miles from Marcus, Washington.

ROSSLAND.

Mrs. Bloor disappeared down the narrow, dark staircase that led to the basement, and returned in a minute or two with the key of Jasper's room. Leslie—she could not have said why—followed her upstairs; Maria followed Leslie.

But Jasper's room were empty. Mrs. Bloor looked puzzled.

"If he's an innocent man he won't be afraid of the police," Mrs. Bloor said, "and I'm almost sure he has not left the house, but I'll go and see, if you like.

Certainly, he has not run away for his breakfast; but, considering the condition he was in last night, I don't fancy he'd have much appetite for breakfast. Well, I'll just get the keys of his room, my dears.

"He must have gone out last night," she said, "and he hasn't left the key of Mr. Gilchrist's room. That's the thoughtless and careless of him, though, to be sure, it's only a little catch. I've often pushed it back with a pair of scissors, which I always carry in my pocket—a dangerous practice, I know, but they've done me no harm yet. Sometimes, I suppose, I do—forget the scissors."

"But, surely—surely," Leslie asked.

"Shall we use them now?" Leslie asked.

"He must have gone out last night," she said, "and he hasn't left the key of Mr. Gilchrist's room. That's the thoughtless and careless of him, though, to be sure, it's only a little catch. "Well, it's not pretty death, to say the least of it," Mrs. Bloor said, "but I can speak authoritatively as to who will succeed him. Jasper's room? I have no sympathy with the man, but—her voice was a little hard—"he is Mr. Gilchrist's cousin, and I don't want him hanged."

HAS GONE TO LONDON.

Attorney-General Wilson Will Represent
Province in Appeals to Privy Council.

Attorney-General Wilson has gone to London, England, to represent the province in two appeals which come up before the Privy Council in December. These are the Deadman's Island and the Vancouver oil street ends cases.

In the former the province's government has the right to grant a lease of the island. It is contended on the one side that the island, which is in Vancouver harbor, was part of a reserve and as such passed to the Dominion. On the other hand the province contends that the jurisdiction over the island rests with British Columbia.

The case has been fought out in the courts of the province and is now being carried to the Privy Council.

The other case has likewise been before the Full court. The city of Vancouver sought to have certain street ends opened to the harbor which had been closed by the C. P. R. line.

An even half dozen offenders were before the police magistrate this morning, but it was a motley array. Three drunks, two bicyclists charged with an infraction of the by-law, and one vagrant, were tried, pleaded guilty and received the usual fine in their respective cases. An assault case was remanded until Wednesday when witness will be present.

The first consignment of pressed briar for the C. P. R. hotel is expected to-morrow, when work will begin on the walls again. In the meantime the stone cutting is in progress so that no delay will follow the arrival of the brick.

The sealer Victoria, Captain Byers commanding, arrived on Sunday from Rehring sea. She brought in 600 skins.

"No wife is compelled to live with her husband, and if she left you for any good reason you must maintain her," said the magistrate at Marylebone, London, to a man who wanted his wife compelled to return to him.

The sealer Victoria, Captain Byers commanding, arrived on Sunday from Rehring sea. She brought in 600 skins.
